Revised school funding proposed

Madison to host forum tonight

 By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Education funding reform is one of the top priorities of Gov. Jim Edgar, legislators and educators.

And most agree that any change in the way schools are funded must include property tax relief.

While the Illinois Constitution gives the state primary responsibility for financing public schools, the state's portion of school funding has not exceeded that of local property taxes since 1976. And state funding of schools has consistently decreased since that time.

"Nearly 60 cents of every dollar spent on our public schools comes from property taxes. That is not fair," Edgar said last month, emphasizing that school funding reform is high on his agenda.

The heavy reliance on local property taxes has resulted in drastic inequity in school funding. For example, school spending in Illinois last year ranged from $15,000 per pupil per year in one school district to $2,932 in another.

"The quality of education should not be based on geography," said Madison School Superintendent Gary Allison. "Everybody should at least have the basics."

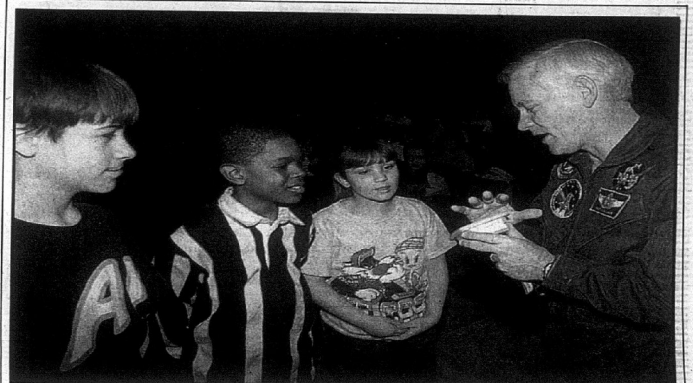

Allison is a member of The Coalition for Fair School Funding, a coalition of organizations representing parents, teachers and administrators throughout the state proposing that a minimum level of state spending-per-pupil be set and that the burden of school funding be shifted from local property taxes to state income tax revenues.

The group has proposed increasing the individual state income tax to 4 percent from 3 percent (and a corresponding corporate tax increase to 6.4 percent from 4.8 percent) to finance public schools.

Under the proposal, about half of the anticipated $2.2 billion increase in revenue would go to schools under a new state funding formula, while the other half would offset the proposed reduction in local property taxes.

The plan would also drastically revise and simplify the current formula used to determine the amount of state aid each public school district receives; and provide additional funds for "at-risk" students.

Col. Mullane, who was one of the first group of Mission Specialists for the Space Shuttle selected in 1978, completed three missions logging 356 hours on the Discovery and Atlantis before retiring in 1990. He recently visited Granite City to present "Countdown to a Dream," a motivational speech based on the trials and successes of his life to area elementary school students.

Tobacco sales to minors targeted

 By Michelle Duell
Staff writer

Legislation proposed in the Illinois Senate would require that merchants selling tobacco pay $100 annually to sell the product and lose their licenses if caught selling to minors.

Most Granite City area store managers refused to comment on the proposal. But Dan Monroe, an employee at Sullies Package Liquor & Lotto, which sells tobacco products, was not so reluctant.

"They're asking us to be the world's policemen," he said. "All we're trying to do is run a business. To me, it's ridiculous."

Rick Lesko, owner of Sullies, added: "Once again, it's a way for Illinois to pass the buck onto the retailer instead of blaming the person buying the (tobacco)."

"Instead of charging $100 for a license, why don't they sell an I.D. card for $10 that can be presented to buy liquor or tobacco? That would take the burden off the retailer, put the blame back on the person who is illegal to begin with."

New fire helmet wins praise

 By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Granite City is one of the first three communities in the St. Louis region to acquire a state-of-the-art helmet for firefighters that will prevent thousands of dollars in fire damage and potentially save the lives of individuals trapped inside burning buildings.

"Imagine yourself totally blindfolded inside of a burning building trying to locate possible victims and the source of the fire," Fire Chief Keith Talley said. "That was the situation our firemen were in when fighting many of the more than 80 house fire calls we answer each year — until we received our new CairnsIRIS Thermal Imaging System."

The new helmet is a revolution in vision restoration for firefighters, allowing them to "see" temperature variations as minute as one half of one degree.

"Believe me, this is going to save lives and many thousands of dollars in fire damage because this will allow us to get to victims and the source of the fire while there is still time to save both," Talley said. "The system literally opens our eyes when fighting a fire. It allows a firefighter to see through the smoke — see body heat from victims and see heat behind walls, floors and ceilings. Now instead of having to crawl on his hands and knees feeling his way through unfamiliar surroundings a firefighter can move quickly to victims he sees and remove them from the building.

"He can also go quickly to the source of the fire and, in many cases, begin to extinguish it while it is in the early stages and before it breaks out and engulfs the entire building."

The helmet utilizes technology developed by the U.S. government in conjunction with "smart bombs." Because the sensor and monitor are both mounted on a helmet, the firefighter has both hands free to rescue victims or extinguish the fire.

"When the chief brought me information about this new system, I immediately told him that I would check into financing and if there was any we could afford it, I wanted at least one of these for our fire department," Mayor Ron Selph said. "Through the cooperation of our City Council we were able to secure Community Development Block Grant funds in the amount of $24,000 to purchase this wonderful life-saving tool."

The firefighters are currently soliciting private donations for the purchase of a second helmet.

"I'd eventually like to have three — one at each station," Tuley said.

Serial rapist may have struck again

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

The early-morning rape Sunday of a Collinsville woman may be another crime committed by the South Side rapist.

Collinsville police are investigating the sexual assault of a woman in her home in the 500 block of St. Louis Road. The woman, who is in her late 30s, called police about 4:10 a.m. Sunday.

"Of course we're looking at that (link to the South Side rapist), and we're going to check the DNA if at all possible," Collinsville Assistant Police Chief Ed Delmore said. "And we think it's possible."

While the victim was threatened with a knife, she was not cut or stabbed by the attacker, Delmore said. The attacker is believed to be about 6 feet tall with a medium build.

"And we still believe him to be a white male," Delmore said.

While that description is definitely in keeping with that of the South Side rapist, there is at least one immediate difference in this case.

"He was wearing a hood that covered his face," Delmore said. "That's not something I've ever heard of (the South Side rapist) doing before, at least in our two cases."

The victim was treated and released from a local hospital.

At the crime scene, police discovered that the rapist had removed a screen and entered the home through an unlocked window. Delmore said this is something residents need to remedy.

"Women need to be aware of their surroundings, be aware if anyone is following them and keep their windows and doors locked," Delmore said.

Delmore said residents can help police and one another — by keeping an eye out for any suspicious activity.

"If anyone sees anyone or anything that doesn't look right, they should call the police," Delmore said. "We'd rather get false calls than turn out to be nothing than miss the one that really is a suspect in this case."

The incident has struck a chord with neighbors and other nearby residents.

"It's terrible and it makes me very afraid," said an elderly female resident who lives less than a block from the attack.

"If it is that same man, he has attacked two younger women now," the woman said. "But that other lady was in her 80s. None of us are safe."

•Funding

aid would be generated, along with more than $389 million in at-risk funding.

Allison and Madison Community Unit School District #12 will host a community forum on public school funding at 7 p.m. tonight, Wednesday, at Madison Middle School, 1003 Farrish.

GLASS CUT TO ANY SIZE
Granite City Glass
1837 Madison Ave.
877-5400

The current state aid formula is complex — almost incomprehensible to the general public — and does not assure increased funding for school districts in subsequent years, Allison said.

"And it's the kids that need the most that are having the most taken away from them," Allison said.

While Madison property owners are among the hardest hit in the state when it comes to property tax rates, school district is forced to educate students with far less than other districts, Madison School Board President Sharon Cass said.

"We were fortunate to get a tax increase to implement all-day kindergarten, improvements to our buildings and get off the state watch list," Cass said. "But something has to be done. The state is obligated to pay 51 percent."

Under the coalition plan, school districts would be able to receive state aid determined by the use of one of two formulas. Districts would receive the greater of the two amounts.

The first formula uses the state's percentage increase in per capita income to adjust general state aid entitlements.

The second calculation would determine the amount of state aid necessary to guarantee a district a "foundation level" of $4,500 per student, provided that the district levies a property tax at a certain level ($3 per $100 of assessed valuation for unit districts and $1.50 for dual districts, not including the bond and interest rate).

The foundation level would be revised each year as educational needs change, according to the plan.

For districts utilizing funding under the second formula, 40 percent of the property taxes above the minimum qualifying rate would be rebated.

Applying the proposed formula to Madison, for example, schools would receive $100,000 less from local taxes but nearly $1.4 million would be injected to the school district from the state, Allison said.

Under the plan, school districts would be able to increase the tax rate with voter approval. But increases after Jan. 1, would not be subject to the 40 percent rebate.

The plan also provides for additional funding for districts with an at-risk population of more than 18 percent of the total students enrolled.

It also provides for state subsidies to districts with property values below the state average when those communities approve a property tax increase. The subsidy would ensure that the district receives the same resultant revenue as a district having an assessed valuation equal to the state average.

State representatives Tom Holbrook, D-Bellefonte, and Steve Davis, D-Bethalto, both said property tax relief must be included in any education reform package.

"Illinois schools and property owners are suffering under this education funding system that relies too heavily on property taxes," Holbrook said.

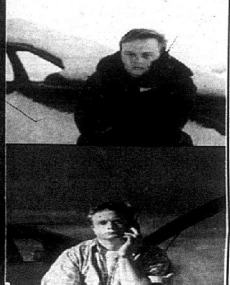

"The people of this district deserve a plan that is fair to the children and the working families."

Davis also said the state must eventually pay for at least 50 percent of public education costs. He supports a reduction in local property taxes earmarked for education along with setting aside any new state revenue for education.

"I truly believe we can offer working families a better education for their children and some relief from their property taxes in a corresponding ongoing process," Davis said.

"If we prioritize new revenues in Illinois for education funding, we can do all this and still maintain the budget."

With free nights and weekends all year, there's never been a better time to break down in the middle of nowhere.

Let's Work Together To Keep Natural Gas Prices Low.

Cold weather and higher natural gas prices are driving up the price on your bills. We can't do much about the weather, but by working together, we can hold the line on natural gas prices.

Utilities don't manufacture natural gas. Instead, we buy it for you on the wholesale gas market. You pay exactly the same price we pay. And that price is much higher than last year. Our gas buyers have the best record in the Midwest for purchasing low cost natural gas which is stored for future use. Right now, we're mixing lower-cost gas we bought earlier in the season with the current higher-cost gas, giving you the lowest "average" price possible.

If this winter's unexpected bills are more than your budget can handle, call us at 1-800-750-7026 and ask about special payment arrangements.

By pulling together, we can make the best of this winter and keep natural gas prices as low as possible.

Retirement complex planned

GLEN CARBON — Miller Heights neighbors received their first look last week at a new retirement complex planned by Lutheran Child and Family Services of Illinois.

Plans for the 400-unit complex of patio homes, retirement apartments, skilled nursing home and professional offices were discussed at a public hearing at Village Hall.

Developers plan to build the complex in three phases on more than 31 acres north of the Glen Hills Subdivision on Meridian Road.

The property is vacant agricultural land with multifamily residential zoning. Developers need a special-use permit to develop the site.

Plans submitted to the Glen Carbon Planning/Zoning Commission indicate developers will begin with 97 patio homes and apartments in 10 buildings on the first 10.7 acres.

Phase Two will add 99 units in 10 additional buildings on 8.5 acres. The final phase of 200 units on 11 acres will be designed for assisted living and skilled nursing care.

The development will provide a full range of living styles, including independent living, officials said.

Miller Heights Inc. plans to develop the site with Lutheran Services, according to the application.

Zoning officials were also considering requests for a zoning change on Lot 52 in The Orchards of Cottonwood from Steve Gardner of Gardner Homes and Jean Lovelace of Gillespie.

The two seek a zoning change from general commercial to multifamily to allow construction of five buildings for 20 residential living units off. The Planning/Zoning Commission heard public comment on the application.

For additional information, contact the village building and zoning department at 288-7502.

NEWS Simon begins new life

SIU approves hiring 'think tank' director

The state's beloved, bow-tied former senator officially became an SIU professor Thursday to a round of welcoming applause.

The Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University welcomed Makanda native Paul Simon at its monthly meeting. Members then formally approved his $120,000 yearly contract as professor and director of an "action-oriented" think tank he is developing at the Carbondale campus.

"He's off to a very fast and running start. He is bringing national prominence to SIU," said A.D. Vandewater Jr., chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Paul Simon

Simon, 68, said it is a pleasure to be on the Edwardsville campus and that he feels at home, having been instrumental in SIUE's founding. He then addressed individual board members, describing his history with each.

Simon has been in Carbondale about six weeks since his January retirement from the U.S. Senate. He served 22 years in Congress after a career of nearly 20 years as a newspaper editor and publisher in Troy. He also has written several books and lectured at two colleges.

Simon now teaches journalism and political science at SIUC, while he established the Public Policy Institute on campus. He plans to recruit four former Republican and Democratic U.S. senators who, with the assistance of students, will study critical political issues.

Simon emphasized that this "think tank" will try to initiate action on the issues while getting students "to make a contribution to the nation."

"There are a number of public policy institutes at universities around the nation. This will be different," he said. "It will be action-oriented. We don't want to produce a great discourse that is going to be put on a library shelf somewhere. This is for the students. SIU can make a contribution to the nation."

"One issue we are going to look at is the Social Security system. We are going to need to make some changes, but neither party wants to take the lead because they are going to be unpopular."

Despite the proactive mission of the institute, Simon said he would not lobby for passage of any of the institute's proposed legislation. The institute will study two or three topics per year. Some funding comes from the university, and Simon will seek funds from endowments.

He said he eventually hopes to build up a fund of $1 million so the institute does not "drain on the university."

Simon said use of bipartisan former senators will increase the chances of proposed legislation being enacted by Congress.

Besides Social Security, the institute will study environmental issues to come up with practical suggestions for legislation. "There is no point in making pie-in-the-sky recommendations if they hurt the economy," he said.

Simon warned SIU officials that some of the institute's recommendations might be controversial and they could "feel some heat" from politicians or the public.

"We can reach out and say something that may not be politically popular," he said. "The institute may come out with recommendations that may not please everyone, but I think we can make a contribution to the nation."

While students will be involved in institute research, the organization will not hold classes. Simon said he hopes that in the future the institute also could be a catalyst for bringing together disputing international parties at the discussion table.

Chinese New Year celebration set at SIUE

The Chinese New Year will be celebrated with a festival including a buffet dinner and authentic Chinese dances at 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 23, on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Scheduled in Meridian Hall of SIUE's University Center, the festival will feature a buffet that includes nine authentic Chinese dishes. The festival "Unity Dinner" is a tradition during the New Year when families who are away from home may reunite with their loved ones.

In addition, entertainment will feature Chinese folk dances and songs, including the traditional Lion Dance, which symbolizes the unity of families and good wishes for prosperity. The presentation will be performed by a professional Chinese dance troupe.

The event is sponsored by the campus of Society of Chinese Solutions, P.R.C.

Survivors include her parents, Lloyd and Linda (Keeton) Coad of Granite City; and three sisters, Sandra and Amanda Coad of Granite City, and Susan Heffernan of Granite City.

Arrangements are pending at Irwin Chapel, 3960 Maryville Road, Granite City.

•Tobacco

Officials of local 7-Eleven Stores were unable to comment directly to the proposal, because, they said, corporate officers have not seen it.

But 7-Eleven, owned by the Southland Corp., in Dallas, already has a policy in place regarding the Federal Drug Administration's rule against selling tobacco to minors, said spokeswoman Margaret Schabris in Dallas.

"Southland 7-Eleven stores support efforts to curtail access to tobacco products by those not yet of legal age," Schabris said, adding that 7-Eleven has had a program called, "Come of Age," in place for 13 years to teach store personnel the proper and legal way to sell age-restricted products.

But, she said, 7-Eleven also has been concerned about the FDA ruling because it focuses on placing costly and unnecessary burdens on retailers, especially those in the convenience-store industry. Illinois Attorney General Jim Ryan, who announced the Juvenile Tobacco Access Prevention Act, called it the "state's toughest and most innovative legislation" in the country to stem smoking among minors. Republican senators introduced the bill.

Under the bill, merchants selling chewing tobacco, cigars, cigarettes or any other tobacco product would have to buy a license each year. If caught selling to minors, they would lose their right to sell these products.

The state's Liquor Control Benefit Friday

A Mardi Gras celebration benefiting the Phoenix Crisis Center will be held from 5:30 p.m. to midnight Friday, Feb. 21, at the Alton-Wood River Sportsman's Club, 3109 Godfrey Road in Godfrey.

Music will be provided by "Zydeco and the Crawdaddies" and a disc jockey playing rock and country favorites. The event will feature a live auction, 50-50 drawings, door prizes, Cajun food and refreshments.

There is no cover charge. Costumes are optional. The Phoenix Crisis Center is a not-for-profit organization serving victims of domestic violence and those in family crisis situations. 1985.

Commission could take their licenses away on the second offense of selling to minors, according to the bill.

Currently, the law stipulates that minors may not buy tobacco and imposes fines of $200 to $600. Ryan's proposal would lower possible fines to $25 to $100 and add offenses possession or use of tobacco. Violators also could be required to complete 100 hours of community service and enroll in a program about the risks of using tobacco.

Businesses caught selling tobacco to minors could be fined $500, but fines of $200 to $600 for merchants would remain as they are.

Business clerks also could be fined.

Granite City Assistant Chief of Police Maj. Kip Pomeroy said police support the proposal and the Federal Drug Administration's ruling on selling to minors.

"Anything that would deter a minor's use of tobacco should be supported and applauded," Pomeroy said. "The offenders never realize the severity of the punishment, because their parents pay the fines."

Boys prep teams pressed to beat Madison, East

With the sectional complex seeding meetings out of the way, area boys basketball teams can now gear up for regional action just weeks away.

As expected, powerful Belleville East, state quarterfinalists one year ago, snagged the top seed in the Collinsville sectional complex. With the top seed, the Lancers receive a bye in the first round.

Edwardsville, Alton and Chatham Glenwood, the next three seeds, are guaranteed both regional games at home, provided they win in the first round. The next four teams—Granite City, Jacksonville, East St. Louis Lincoln and Belleville West—open regional action at home. If they win, they will then hit the road unless a higher seed loses.

Filling out the seeds were East St. Louis Senior, Bethalto Civic Memorial, Collinsville, Cahokia, Jerseyville, Waterloo and Taylorville.

The four survivors of regional competition advance to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for the sectional tournament, hosted by Collinsville.

Best bet: definitely East. The Lancers appear invincible and will have to have a down night against a decent team to miss the bus to the Carbondale supersectional.

Most overrated: Edwardsville. Look for the Tigers to be upset before the sectionals. But, if it comes down to coaching, look out, Mike Waldo will win.

Unknown factor: Chatham Glenwood, the fourth seed. Led by 6-6 point guard Jason Werth (18 ppg), Glenwood captured consolation honors at the Collinsville-Schnuck's Christmas Tournament, losing to East St. Louis Lincoln in the first game and beating Madison in the last game.

Werth's average has dropped from 23 points per game at the time and Glenwood has been on again, off again since the first of the year.

Best chance of an upset: East St. Louis or Alton. Whichever team is on a roll coming into the regional could upset the apocryphal for everyone, including Belleville East. And don't overlook Granite City. The Warriors' 9-3 slate is deceptive, and they are capable of spoiling almost any team's season.

Among small schools, Madison secured the top seed for the Vandalia sectional complex. The winner advances to the Charleston supersectional where they will meet the sectional champ from Olney East Richmond.

Freeburg, Venice and Lebanon will be the Trojans' toughest obstacles in the Trenton Westlin regional. Lebanon plays Belleville Alto. Venice faces Dupu, Freeburg gets Westland, and Madison spars with Lovejoy in first round games.

In the Greenville regional, the host team received the nod but faces stiff competition from Roxana, Metro East Lutheran, Staunton and Marquette. Greenville, with a first round bye, waits for the winner of the Roxana-Staunton game.

Best bet: Madison. The Trojans are playing their best ball of the year and look good even when they lose. With the return of Alvin Gentile, the play of Tywansley Patten and their overall offensive and

Young Warriors send 7 to state

By Patrick C. Heston
Staff writer

The Granite City Warriors are sending seven wrestlers to the Illinois class AA state tournament this weekend at Champaign's Assembly Hall.

Adame Dunnivant (112 pounds) and Kevin Venne (189) claimed sectional titles, while five other Warriors—Gary Oxford (103), Mike Glover (119), Brooks Narvaez (140), Jonas Janek (145) and George Kirgan (171)—were runners-up.

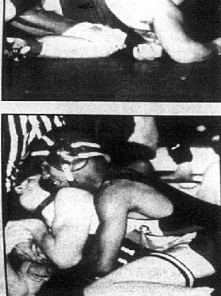

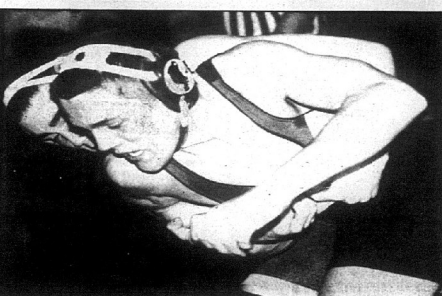

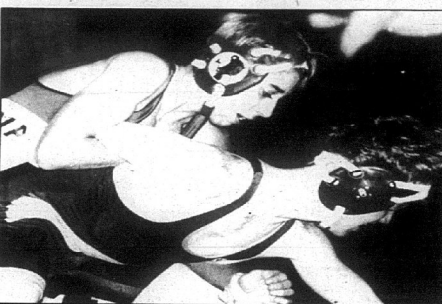

"If someone would have told me at the beginning of the year," said GCHS coach Mike Garland, "that we'd have seven state qualifiers, I'd have taken seven and run."

Dunnivant wrestled strong both days. He scored a technical fall (16-1) against Springfield's Heart-Griffin's Ryan Molchan on Friday and defeated Jerod Bruner of Chatham Glenwood 10-4 in the semifinals. Against Springfield's Bob Catalano in the title match, Dunnivant surrendered two first-period points but nothing else. He won the 112-pound championship with a 6-2 decision.

Venne won at 189 pounds, pinning Triad's Luke Moore in 5:04. Venne recorded a 15-4 major decision in the semis against Springfield's Tyler Partridge after shutting out Kenny Lutz of Collinsville 5-0 in the quarterfinals.

With their wins, Dunnivant (28-9) and Venne (33-7) drew first-round byes at state.

Coach: Desire will determine titles

Of the seven GCHS wrestlers failing to advance from the sectionals, Matt Werner (a junior) will have another chance. But for senior David Thompson, consolation runner-up to Eric Lightfoot of Jacksonville, there will be no more chances.

"Of the two Warrior wrestlers failing to advance from the sectionals," Matt Werner (a junior) will have another chance. But for senior David Thompson, consolation runner-up to Eric Lightfoot of Jacksonville, there will be no more chances.

"I feel the most for Thompson," Garland said. "All the other kids in the sectional will have other chances, but no David. But he's not through. None of our kids who lose are through. We still have the dual team sectionals, and David will still wrestle some big matches for us."

Garland was pleased with the performances of all 13 of his wrestlers.

"I'm proud of the kids," he said. "I am somewhat disappointed, but it is disappointment for some of them, not disappointment in them."

Of his two winners, Dunnivant and Venne, Garland said, "Once they got it cranked up, once they started wrestling offensively, they did it well. That's when they always do well."

"Venne, for example, was wrestling at the Triad man's (See DESIRE, Page 4B)

Madison, Venice post wins

By Patrick C. Heston

Two of the area's premier class A boys basketball teams fine-tuned their games Saturday evening at the Greenville Shootout.

Madison (18-6) played what coach Al Collins called its "best defensive game of the year" in pounding 19-7 Patoka 71-37 in the evening's first contest. The Trojans never trailed, leading 11-7 after one quarter and 24-20 at the half.

Brandon McGirt, who was voted the game's most valuable player, came off the bench to pour in a game-high 15 points. Tywansley Patten hit 12 points and hauled in 11 rebounds. Maurice Baker, who played only half the game because of foul trouble, dropped in 12 points and dished out half-a-dozen assists. Clifford Burris netted nine points, and Jerrind Howard had six steals.

"We picked up our defense," said Collins. "Especially in the second half. We left no one uncovered the last 16 minutes. Even Tywansley Patten, who has always played great offense, picked up his defense."

Madison dealt Patoka a 26-8 blow in the third period for a 50-28 lead and then followed with a 21-8 advantage in the final quarter to salt away the win.

In the second game, Venice outlasted Vandalia 43-38 behind the 23 point outburst of game MVP Marcus Allen.

Vandalia (6-19) scored first for their only lead of the contest. But the Red Devils (14-7) could never put the underdog Vandals away.

Venice took an 11-7 first quarter lead, built the margin to 12 early in the second quarter, and was atop a 24-17 cushion at the half.

Vandalia pulled within five early in the third quarter, but three straight field goals by Jamie Edwards put Venice up by 11. They led by nine, 32-23, with a quarter to play.

The Vandals pulled within three points twice in the fourth quarter, but the Devils scored eight of the game's last 11 points to secure the victory.

Edwards scored 12 points and grabbed 11 boards while Kevin Roberts had 11 points to go along with six assists; along with Allen, they teamed for 46 of the Devils' 48 points.

Venice and Madison both conclude their regular seasons this week and face a possible title game match-up in the Trenton Westlin regional on Friday, Feb. 26.

Venice traveled to Beaumont (Mo) Tuesday night while Madison makes a trip to Teutopolis Friday.

Coach hopes 24-5 Bearcats stay hungry

By Scott Marlon
Staff writer

As the regular season nears its end, the McKendree College basketball team finds itself in a familiar position.

As usual, the Bearcats are ranked nationally—16th in the latest NAIA poll. Coach Harry Statham's club leads the American Midwest Conference with a 6-1 record.

"We want to peak at the right time," said Statham, whose team improved to 24-5 with Saturday's 88-74 win over Hannibal-LaGrange. "We have (three) games left and we want to get a little better each time."

"We want to improve our consistency and we want to shoot a little better. Our rebounding is much improved from last year, but it's still not good enough. Our goal is to win the conference and go to Tulsa (for the NAIA national tournament), and we're in line for both."

The Bearcats, who are unbeaten at Melvin Price Convocation Center, defeated Harris-Stowe College 91-67 on Feb. 8. Two days earlier, they earned a key league win on the road, edging Park College 73-72.

"We had tremendous team play," Statham said. "Marty Adams had 19 points and Brian Schutz had 16. Chad Mills doesn't shoot much, but he had eight points on two big 3-pointers and he was 2-for-2 from the line. Jason Schneider had eight points and played great defense. Creo Argue had 10 points off the bench."

McKendree, which outscored Park 43-34 in the second half, had a much easier time against Harris-Stowe, building a 51-23 halftime lead. Argue and Andre Taylor had 15 points apiece and Adams added 13 points.

In last Thursday's 85-63 AMC win over Missouri Baptist College, Adams had a game-high 21 points, including five

Youth soccer league
The Gateway East Illinois Youth Soccer League will be accepting applications for the spring season for boys and girls teams U-10 to U-14. For information, call Tom Ponnanski at 656-8834 or E-mail SOC-CER 1941@AOL.COM.

Mitchell registration
The Mitchell Athletic Club is taking team registration for its summer recreational league (non-select) in baseball, softball and T-ball.
Boys and girls ages 4-19 are eligible. For more information, call Dave at 931-3690.

Park league sign-ups
The Granite City Park District is now taking registration for boys and girls wanting to play youth baseball, tee-ball or ponytail softball this summer.
The sign-ups are for boys and girls who would like to play in the 1997 summer park leagues but are not currently on a park district team or have never played in the park district leagues.

Boys and girls who will be ages 6-16 may have their name placed on the list. Every effort will be made to place them on a team.

Boys and girls tee-ball is for ages 6-7, youth baseball is for ages 8-16 and ponytail softball is for ages 8-16.

New teams are formed from the compiled list. Names on the list are also used by managers of existing teams that need to fill their rosters.

Anyone interested in coaching or managing a youth baseball, tee-ball or ponytail softball team may visit the Wilson Park office or call recreation supervisor Ray Hoffman at 877-3069.

"RJ" Krause All-Stars
The "RJ" Krause All-Stars Sports Club of East St. Louis is seeking basketball games and tournaments for boys and girls teams in grades 3-10. The club also needs sports equipment, uniforms, cheerleading outfits, used basketball shoes, sports magazines, books, games or trading cards. For more information, call Krause at 398-1201.

All-star tryouts
The St. Louis International Youth Baseball Association will select an all-star team to play baseball in Australia in March 1997. The team is open to boys born March 30, 1985, or later.

For more information, call Al Bond at (314) 845-3032.

Softball tournament
The St. Louis Girl's Fastpitch Spring Softball Tournament will be held April 18-20 by the Creve Coeur (Mo.) Athletic Association. There is a 4-game guarantee.

The entry fee for age groups 10-18 is $150. For more information, call Mike (532-3218) or John (527-6604).

Donkey Basketball
The GCIS Varsity Club will hold its annual Donkey Basketball game 7 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 26 at Memorial Gymnasium.

Tickets are $3 in advance and $4 at the door. Tickets may be purchased through the high school office. The Student Council will face the Varsity Club in the first game. The Faculty will meet the Police in the second game, and the two winners will meet in the third game.

The first 100 youths in attendance will receive a free donkey ride.

Long to student teach

Abigail Long of Granite City, formerly of Belleville, is among seniors at MacMurray College in Jacksonville, Ill., who will carry out student teaching assignments during the spring semester. She is one of 15 seniors majoring in deaf studies: teacher education who will start student teaching Feb. 3. They will complete 15 weeks of student teaching in hearing-impaired programs, half at the elementary level and half at the secondary level.

Assistant Professor Barbara Friedler will supervise the student teachers in their secondary-school assignments. Assistant Professor Rebecca Jones-Grooms will supervise their elementary-level work. The Mac seniors will be working to meet Illinois requirements for teacher certification in deaf studies: teacher education.

Long will be assigned to the Marion School for the Hearing Impaired for her elementary work and the Illinois School for the Deaf in Jacksonville for her sec-

Eagles Auxiliary honors president, mother

Before the Dec. 10, 1996, meeting of the Eagles Auxiliary 1126, a Christmas dinner was held honoring the president and the auxiliary mother. The dinner was prepared and served by Jim Boyd and his committee. Gifts from the auxiliary and the members were presented to Auxiliary Mother Barbara Ramsey and Auxiliary President Susan Allen.

The regular meeting was opened by President Susan Allen. She thanked all present for her gifts and also thanked Jim Boyd and his committee for the delicious dinner. Roll call was taken and all officers were present. The reading of the minutes was tabled until the next meeting. Secretary Vincine Zerlan read two new applications. Grand Madam President Carol Inge sent holiday greetings to the Auxiliary. Also, the Auxiliary received best wishes from Ruth Jorgensen. Thank you letter from Protestant Welfare was received for our donation for their kitchen pantry. Visting chairman Mildren Boyd sent get well cards to Judy Laws, Florence Hagauer, Elmer Deloney, Florence Zuch, Lorraine Clancy, and Cindy Duncan. She sent a sympathy card to Theresa McWhinnie.

Motion was made and seconded to three families in the form of gift certificates from Shop N Save. Hostesses for the January meetings will be Mary Church and Malzynski. A discussion was held in regards to buying fire helmets for the fire department. Motion was made and seconded. Past President Joanna Spencer talked about the plans for State Officers weekend which will be held Jan. 17 and 18. The auxiliary will be serving lunch on Jan. 18 consisting of soup and sandwiches. There will be a cake walk, grab bags, and match box raffle.

There will be a banquet in the evening with entertainment following. Jackpot winner was Sherrie Wilson. Good of the Auxiliary was won by Vincine Zerlan and Irene Doroghazi.

BALANCE ACT:

The Mind/Body Connection for a Healthier You

Today's lifestyle can be very complicated and hectic, resulting in a variety of stress disorders as well as physical illness. In order to maintain a healthy lifestyle it is important to find a "balance" between mind, body and spirit.

This program will provide information on:

- stress reduction methods
- alternative relaxation methods
- the mind/body connection and how it plays a key role in overall well-being
- how spiritual wellness plays a role in the mind/body connection

Massage therapists from Belleville Health and Sports Center will do brief neck/shoulder massages before and after the program.

DATE, TIME, PLACE
Monday, February 24, 1997
6:30 - 9:00 pm

Memorial Hospital's Auditorium

INFORMATION
This program is free; however advance registration is requested. Call Memorial's Community Relations Department at (618) 257-5649.

Hospital celebrates with patients

Anyone who has experienced physical therapy knows the discipline and hard work that goes toward progress. As a tribute to those children who undergo routine physical therapy, the Physical Medicine Department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City celebrated with current and former patients at their second annual Christmas party on Tuesday, Dec. 16.

The Wolf Building physical rehabilitation room was transformed into a Santa land, featuring a special Santa who is experienced in holding special needs children. Festive treats, Christmas carols and special games rounded out the afternoon's events for children and their families.

Physical Medicine Director Janet Kickman said the party focused on coordinating games and activities with the children's level of ability.

"This gives us a chance to follow up on children we've seen in therapy, to see the long-term outcome of their therapy and how they're functioning at home, in school and in the community. We're particularly pleased to offer the only local program. The families don't have to cope with long-distance traveling for regularly-scheduled therapy."

The pediatric multi-disciplinary approach includes occupational therapists, speech therapists and physical therapists. The program addresses orthopedics, development delay and cerebral palsy needs. For more information about this and other physical medicine services, call the St. Elizabeth Medical Center Physical Medicine Department at 798-3135.

Alexis Nolan

Nolan wins U.S.A. High Point Queen

Alexis Nolan competed in the U.S.A. Midwestern Glamour Girls and Guys Illinois State Pageant held December 14-15 in Belleville. Alexis won age division titles of best outfit with a prop, best model and most photogenic. They awarded six over-all awards in the pageant. Alexis won three of the six: Over-all western wear, she wore a pink liquid ice western wear and modeled to the music of "Baby Like to Rocket," over-all sportswear, for her routine to "Supermodel," and over-all portfolio. To win an over-all title she had to have more points than anyone in the whole pageant. Alexis had a total of 700 points at the end of the competition, giving her the most points of everyone in the pageant. She was named High Point Queen. She won a large crown, cash, vanity dressing table, silver tea set, porcelain doll, Teddy bears and many other gifts. Alexis is the 2-year-old daughter of Benny and Rhonda Nolan, and the granddaughter of Chester and Reta Vest and Benny and Olivia Nolan all of Granite City.

flag warning to those seeking commitment in love or finance.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Your willingness to assume responsibilities furthers you. TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Romance blooms in out-of-the-way places. Rather than avoiding pressure, seek it and meet the challenge.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). The information you've been seeking to change your life is right around the corner. CANCER (June 22-June 22). Shhh — listening skills bring you the information you need without even opening your mouth. LEO (June 23-Aug. 22). The fast way leads to more errors than it's worth.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Feb. 19). You get to the top when you know yourself better than ever before.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Throw out the rules when dealing with love. Your feelings are right on target.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22). Problems with your family subside as others sense you are not going to tolerate any more nonsense. Practical skills help. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Give praise to yourself, not just criticism. Blind trust can be dangerous in today's society — make sure others are able to stand behind their words.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Artistic people are drawn to you.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Friends who share a creative hobby — interest are wonderful to be around.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Personal growth need not be unpleasant — in fact, one of the secrets of success is to make change as pleasurable as possible.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). The secret is to do what you love every day and try to improve at least 1 percent.

Fresh Picks

Strawberries are ripening to winter-red in southern California. First-of-the-season berries from the San Diego, Oxnard and Orange County areas are reacting to dry, sunny weather and turning into the crop that dispels some of winter's chill in the Midwest and East. According to Teresa Thorne of the California Strawberry Commission, a normal amount of berries are on the vines this year. Amounts peak from April to June when all California growing areas produce at the same time. Plants are bursting to produce, so they develop a bonus: large size. She says size does not determine taste. Unlike red wine, which may age gracefully, strawberries are picked at the ripeness they always will enjoy.

Big Fat Tip

Simple bagels are a treasure, but cream cheese can send them out of orbit on the fat scale. Flavor fat-free cream cheese for a new taste delight. For instance, add seedless red raspberry preserves, orange marmalade, or whole cherry, peach or strawberry preserves for fruity results. Spread over toasted, grilled or microwave-warmed bagel halves. Correspond each flavor to a finishing dollop of fruit yogurt, dollop of vanilla yogurt and sprinkle of brown sugar, or sprinkle of sugar and cinnamon with a touch of nutmeg.

Future Shop

There is nothing like a little pepper to perk up taste buds, according to the American Spice Trade Association. Leading the way in spice usage are black and white pepper, red pepper and mustard seed, which becomes hot when milled and triggered by a liquid. They account for more than 40 percent of all spice use. Capsicum peppers — with hot appeal to bolder ethnic tastes — experienced the largest gain in recent years.

Art: Italian Food

Ron Denk, chef of Catering St. Louis, left, and Carl Scavuzzo, chef of the Art Museum Cafe, show food is an entertaining art in the Italian style by Redding Pan, which Giovanni Angelo Montorsoli carved in Italy about 1535. White marble Pan is part of the in-house team who will begin greeting visitors Feb. 21 to the two-month Italian Celebration at the St. Louis Art Museum. Denk, holding grilled salmon, and Scavuzzo — with an Italian trio of eggplant caponata, whipped Gorgonzola, and white bean and green olive spread on his plate — will offer a artful dining and food sampling experiences.

Michelangelo didn't leave pasta stains on the Sistine Chapel, but food will receive top billing with painting, sculpture, architecture and fashion at the St. Louis Art Museum's Italian Celebration Feb. 21 to April 20.

An Italian market, free to the public in the Sculpture Hall, will kick off the event from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, with local merchants from the Italian community selling cheeses, pasta, baked goods, oils and other foods that would lure Michelangelo down quickly from his scaffolds.

Visiting Italy by way of its food is no mystery to Marcella Hazan, who will speak about "Italy's Cooking: The Western World's Most Varied Cuisine and Why This Is So" at 7 p.m. Friday, Feb. 28. She will demonstrate recipes from her forthcoming book from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday, March 1.

Hazan has been teaching Americans to cook Italian-style since before her first "basics" book, now a classic, was published in 1973.

"Italian cooking is always a form of art,"

LIVELY TASTE

According to Marcella Hazan in "Essentials of Classic Italian Cooking," nothing brings a meal to a fragrant close better than sliced oranges macerated in lemon peel, sugar and lemon juice.

1. Using a sharp paring knife, peel 4 of 6 sweet and juicy oranges, stripping away all white pith and as much thin skin as possible beneath it.

2. Slice peeled oranges less than 1/2-inch thick. Seed, if necessary. Lay in deep platter or shallow serving bowl.

3. Sprinkle with peel of 1 lemon grated without any white pith. Add 5 tablespoons sugar. Squeeze juice of remaining 2 oranges. Add orange juice and juice of 1/2 lemon to bowl.

4. Toss gently several times, avoiding breaking up oranges.

5. Cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate at least 4 hours or as long as overnight.

6. Just before serving, toss chilled fruit two or three times.

Hometown Test Run

Local producers freeze toasted ravioli, a St. Louis original.

Consumer bakes toasted ravioli without frying

Integral to the cuisine of St. Louis is toasted ravioli. Ready to order from restaurant appetizer menus, they also are available in the supermarket's frozen food section in convenient, snack-size portions.

True to the region's tradition of food delights, three brands tested this week — Maria & Son, Louisa and Fazio's — are produced locally. Similar in ease of preparation, price and nutritional value, taste is where they differed.

Louisa toasted ravioli looked like little pillows before they were baked. The package cites beef as its main ingredients. Tasters found its filling "loaded with flavor," as one put it. "This is definitely my favorite, because it tastes like it's filled with Italian sausage," a taster said, with a second nodding in agreement.

"The taste of the meat is a lot more intense and they have a nice crispy breading," she said.

Other tasters found garlic the dominant flavor. "The garlic gave the beef a better flavor than the others, but it almost seems like too much crust," a taster said. Fazio's ravioli received a wider range of response. Some liked what seemed to be more variety, even vegetables, in the filling, while others thought that might be the reason they wanted the flavor stronger.

Fazio's claims a "special process" in creating the oven-ready toasted ravioli. Some found this creates a slightly softer, chewier texture than the deep-fried version they expect from restaurants.

Its meat content in the filling includes beef, veal and pork. The lively testing became a measure of degrees of familiarity, as tasters debated the merits of their authoritative reviews, based on how long they have lived in the St. Louis area and in what neighborhood they reside.

The third brand, Maria & Son, differed the most in appearance and results. "The homemade look of the ravioli is more conducive to the style of appetizers I serve with a dinner of spaghetti and meatballs," a taster said.

Wise Ways

Younger, healthier carrot shines with edge of gold

Today's carrots are sweeter and higher in beta carotene than their ancestors. The beta carotene content has increased in the past 10 to 15 years, according to John Guerand, carrot researcher for Bolthouse Farms in California. Popular "baby carrots" are harvested young at 110 to 140 days, vs. 150 days and longer for regular whole carrots. These long, thin carrots are peeled and trimmed to 1 1/2- to 2-inch lengths and packaged ready-to-use as baby carrots.

Carrots are a wise pick: • Buy carrots wrapped or bagged. Unwrapped carrots sold at room temperature soon lose sweetness and crispness.

• Chop those tops. Twist or cut off the leaves before storing, because green tops draw moisture from the roots, turning them limp and rubbery.

• Store carrots in their original plastic bag in a refrigerator crisper. Do not store carrots with apples or other fruit that produces ethylene gas. Carrots may become bitter.

• Look for carrots with narrow, sloped shoulders. The smaller a carrot's core, the sweeter the carrot because natural sugars lie in the outer layers. Wide-shouldered carrots have thick cores.

• Scrub 'em. Although carrots may look clean, bacteria from soil may be present on the surface. Clean with a vegetable brush under running water and rinse thoroughly. • Eat carrots with tomatoes. Lycopene, the red coloring in tomatoes, helps the body absorb and use beta carotene. Add carrots to a lettuce and tomato salad, or use both in soup. Grated carrot stretches the meat in meatloaf and makes it juicier.

• Grated carrot in potato pancakes or muffins increases moistness and sweetness without increasing fat, sugar or calories. One-half cup grated carrot quickly adds 2 grams fiber to any recipe.

• Keep carrot cake healthy. A traditional carrot cake is high in fat, containing up to 1 cup oil. One slice of traditional carrot cake with cream cheese frosting has 385 calories, about half of them from fat.

This low-fat carrot cake relies on applesauce to provide moistness and texture. To save time, prepare grated carrot in a food processor. Keep fat low: Top it with nonfat cream cheese frosting or simply dust with confectioner's sugar.

Home testing kits expand to measure drugs in samples

In January, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved the first home drug testing kit. Although controversial, this kit has been wanted by consumers, parents and families of drug-abusing patients.

The new test can detect illegal drugs, such as marijuana, PCP, amphetamines, cocaine and heroin.

The kit requires a urine sample to be put in a tamper-proof container and mailed to a government-certified laboratory. The sample undergoes tests approved by the FDA. All samples receive a confirmation test to reduce the chance of a false result. Consumers then call a toll-free number anonymously to get the results.

The test kit, called Dr. Brown's Home Drug Testing System, is expected to be available locally very soon. It should sell for less than $30.

As with all tests, there can be false negative results and false positive results. While it happens rarely, prescription drugs and food can affect results. A fraud and honest discussion with a staff member at the toll-free number can minimize problems.

Consumers should read kit instructions carefully and follow directions perfectly. It is important also to understand how often false positive test results occur.

Lima beans store sweet, smoky spirit

Mrs. Byron Barton, Affton, is winner of this week's recipe contest for Smoky Butterbeans. The prize is dinner certificates from the Pasta House Co.

She favors this recipe for a great potluck dinner offering. She revised it from a recipe in an old church cookbook. It is as much fun as baked beans, with sweet, tangy, smoky flavor, but the lima beans give it new pizzazz.

Recipes in this month's Cauliflower, Broccoli and Cabbage Recipe Contest should be postmarked by Feb. 28 for consideration as a winner during March.

One recipe per household can be sent to: Cauliflower, Broccoli and Cabbage Recipe Contest, Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131. A prize from the Pasta House Co. will be awarded each of the four Wednesdays in March.

As usual, if there is a history to the recipe, it will be considered part of the entry. Along with taste and eye appeal, it will be used as a basis for selecting winners.

Originality will be considered, although the recipe need not be original. If possible, name the recipe's source. Include the name of the Journal you receive.

Winners are notified by mail. Duplicate entries will be considered on the basis of earlier entry or basic compliance with the rules. Contest winners may enter again six months after the prize-winning publication date.

SMOKY BUTTERBEANS

3 cups cooked lima beans
1/2 cup ketchup
2 tbsp. corn syrup
1/4 cup brown sugar
1 1/2 tsp. liquid smoke
1/2 onion, chopped
3 slices bacon, chopped

Prepare lima beans according to package directions, using 1 1/2 cups dry beans to make 3 cups cooked. Two cans (15 ounces each) lima beans, drained, also can be used.

In casserole, combine beans, ketchup, corn syrup, brown sugar, liquid smoke, onion and bacon. Bake in preheated oven 45 minutes.

Makes 8 side-dish servings.

Art: Food

Continued from page 1C. Hazan says, "You put together form, color and line and you have to come up with a beautiful picture. It has to satisfy the mind."

The following weekend, highlights will include demonstrations by Hazan, as well as Ritz-Carlton's executive chef, Gerard Babon, at 3 p.m. March 1 and John Marciano and John Ferrara of the Pasta House Co., at 2 and 3:30 p.m. March 2. Reservations are required. The two-month celebration, like Hazan's cooking, winds its way through the eight distinct regions of Italy. Just as art is born into a certain family of the world, so is food.

Offerings of the celebration remain constant, but as each region of Italy moves into the spotlight, food native to that area moves center stage.

Gourmet dinners, monthly events at the art museum, are highlighted by a tour of galleries focusing on other artistic examples of the locale.

An evening in Bologna, promised for Feb. 25, sold out so quickly that a repeat evening is scheduled on March 11.

A Roman dinner, featuring food from the time of artist Giovanni Paolo Pannini in the 17th century, as part of the artistic evening March 4 also has filled, but a second Tuesday evening is scheduled for March 18.

On March 14, Vince Bommarito of Tony's will give commentary as he prepares a Tuscan feast with dishes from his restaurant. (This event costs $95 for members, $115 for nonmembers, including wine and gratuity.)

Naples of the Baroque period comes into artistic view March 25, while a night in northern Italy moves the gourmet night in a new direction April 1 with the museum's Italian maiolica and bronzes featured in the gallery.

Along with the popular marble sculpture, Reclining Pan by Montorsoli, food and wine from Sicily will be part of the menu April 15.

Gourmet in the Galleries evenings cost $35.95 per person, with staggered 20-minute tours with docents from 5:50 to 6:40 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m. in the Museum Cafe. Live entertainment also is part of the event.

Nick Stellino — popular host of a cooking series, "Cucina Amore," on KETC-TV (Channel 9) — will share his passion for food, cooking and sharing it at a free lecture at 11:30 a.m. March 9. Auditorium seating will be on a first-come basis.

The art museum phone number is 621-9072. Reservations for the gourmet dinners and basic information is available at extension 204. Reservations for other events can be made at extension 419.

Author Hazan says Italian cuisine is attainable to Americans, particularly in their kitchens. She maintains a home with her husband Victor, an expert on Italian wine, in Sarasota, Fla.

"Here in Florida, you see many people going out to eat. After a few times, I feel like I want to eat at home, because there are only two or three dishes I want to eat and they are always the same. At home I can eat what I want," she says.

When she first taught Italian cooking in the United States, she was surprised by what she saw. She delights in fresh vegetables.

"In America, now I see people looking for farmers' markets to buy vegetables. Also in the (super)markets I see so many more available," she says.

A family eating together is of prime importance in Italy. The word for "table" in Italian is the equivalent of "sacred table," with the cultural and social importance as important as sustenance.

"In Italy we still cook two meals a day. Many people are working, so there are a lot of dishes you can do without a lot of cooking or organization. You have to organize your time," Hazan says.

Schools and businesses still close for three hours midday so people can eat their main meal at lunch. "I don't understand why people do not find the time to cook. The family eating together means food is an important part of life. Children should have that," she says.

Ingredients for Italian foods are common in American homes today. Hazan offers tips for refining their use.

• Olive oil: Always use extra virgin, the highest grade. Price usually does reflect its quality. It does not age, so even an unopened bottle should be replaced after two years. Flavor, viscosity and aroma depend on its origin.

• Tomatoes: Americans rely heavily on red sauce for pasta and other main dishes. Living in Florida much of the year allows Hazan to have vine-ripened tomatoes handy, a luxury much of the country does not enjoy. Fully-ripe, red and soft firm are the standards for selecting them fresh.

When using canned tomatoes, she recommends whole, peeled plum tomatoes. The San Marzano variety from Italy is her favorite, because they are whole, firm-fleshed, with no seeds and just a little of their juice in the can. Using anything but the whole tomato means the canner can use bleached tomatoes.

• Herbs: Use only fresh, not dried basil. Dried rosemary and sage can be used, but chop it to let its flavor surface. Be sure to cut down the amount used when it is dried.

• Balsamic vinegar: For classic Italian cuisine, use the real thing drop by drop. It is the real thing only if it is aged 70 to 75 years and, consequently, very expensive.

"In Italy the real one is served like perfume," she says. "If you are confused about using it, don't use it."

For instance, if adding it to fresh strawberries that have been marinated in sugar, use about 2 teaspoons balsamic vinegar for four servings.

Heart-y Bites

By TAMMY COOK

Hearty oats win race for healthy-heart claim

Alexander the Great might have been ahead of his time. His fabled horse, Bucephalus, ate only oats. He attributed the horse's legendary speed to his diet. While people don't need to prove their value by striding over hill and dale—and they certainly don't want to fill their plates every meal with oatmeal—they may want to incorporate oats into their healthful-eating menu.

Several research studies show oatmeal, high in soluble fiber, may reduce the risk for heart disease by decreasing blood cholesterol levels and lowering blood pressure, improve blood sugar control in diabetics by slowing absorption of food from the intestine, and help control weight by promoting a prolonged feeling of fullness.

Last year the U.S. Food and Drug Administration proposed the first-ever health claim for a specific food. It reads: "Diets high in oatmeal/oat bran and low in saturated fat and cholesterol may reduce the risk of heart disease."

The statement, expected to be approved this month, reflects 30 years of research. Approval will allow oat product manufacturers to print this wording on their labels.

The nutrients in oatmeal are impressive. About ½ cup uncooked or 1 packet instant oatmeal contains 100 calories, 2.5 grams fat, no cholesterol and 1 gram soluble fiber.

Yes, oats contain fat. Fat naturally occurs in all grains, with most of it found in the germ portion of the whole grain kernel. Most of it is unsaturated. Not being a food of animal origin, it contains no cholesterol.

To maximize oat's healthy benefits, 1½ cups uncooked oats, 3 packets instant oatmeal or 1 cup oat bran is the amount to be eaten each day to maximize oat's health benefits.

Oats' healthy tradition extends beyond Alexander's horse. When the country's wheat supply fell Europe during World War I, Herbert Hoover, then U.S. food administrator, established it as a breakfast alternative. Oatmeal even has orbited the earth with astronauts.

Just like grandmother said, oats "stick to your ribs." Besides hot or cold cereal, they can be used in cookies, muffins, meatloaf, crusts, toppings and cakes. This coffecake incorporates either quick-cooking or old-fashioned (not instant) oats. Applesauce adds moistness and flavor.

Registered dietician Tammy Cook is a member of the nutrition committee of the American Heart Association, St. Louis Chapter.

APPLESAUCE OATMEAL COFFEECAKE

3 cups quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
1 cup whole wheat flour
1½ cups unbleached flour

½ tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. allspice
2 tsp. baking powder
1½ tsp. baking soda
1 cup plus 2 tbsp. firmly packed brown sugar
2 cups unsweetened applesauce
1 cup skim milk
6 tbsp. oil, such as canola
½ cup yolk-free egg product (equal to 2 eggs)
¼ tsp. cinnamon

Preheat oven to 375°. Coat 12-by-9-inch baking pan with nonstick cooking spray.

Combine oats, whole wheat and unbleached flour, cinnamon, allspice, baking powder, baking soda and 1 cup brown sugar.

In separate bowl, combine applesauce, milk, oil and egg product. Add to dry ingredients. Stir until just moistened.

Pour batter into prepared pan. Sprinkle combined 2 tablespoons brown sugar and cinnamon on top.

Bake in preheated oven 35 to 40 minutes until golden brown.

Yields 24 servings; 170 calories and 4 g fat each. Food exchanges: 2 starch, ½ fat.

People with diabetes should limit use of this recipe because it contains significant amounts of sugar.

Variations: Use half ingredients; bake in 9-inch square pan 25 to 30 minutes. To make 24 muffins, bake in preheated 400° oven 15 to 20 minutes.

Micro Raves

By BARB GRAY

Sea holds more than mermaid, canned tuna

Fish gets more popular every day. This is not the least surprising, because it is healthy, flavorful and available just about everywhere. This is the time of year to be adventuresome and try new varieties in all the seafood departments. Most of the fish can be microwaved, which is a plus to save time and energy.

Fish is naturally rich in high-quality protein, yet low in fat, saturated fat, cholesterol and calories. Percentages of fat in individual fish vary with the season, stage of maturity, locale, species and diet. One type of fish can be substituted for another of the same classification when preparing recipes.

Lean fish with less than 2.5 percent fat is mild in flavor with tender, white or pale flesh. Examples are sea bass, cod, flounder, grouper, halibut, monkfish, orange roughy, Northern pike, red snapper, sole, ocean perch, pollock and whiting.

Medium-fat fish has 2.5 to 5 percent fat. Catfish, shark, anchovy, swordfish, sea rainbow trout and whitefish fit this category.

When fish is fatty, it has more than 5 percent fat, which gives it more pronounced flavor. It usually has firmer texture and deeper color; too. Herring, sardine, amberjack, Atlantic mackerel, lake trout, and bluefin albacore tuna are examples.

Microwaving any of these fish is easy. Arrange fish fillets or steaks with thickest parts to outside edge in a shallow microwave-safe dish large enough to hold fish in a single layer. For even thickness, fold thin ends of fish under to double. Cover with plastic wrap, folding back edge about 2 inches to vent. Microwave on high power.

One pound fillets and steaks ½ to ¾-inch thick will take 5 to 7 minutes to cook, then let it stand 2 to 3 minutes to let it finish cooking on its own.

Fish is delicate and tender, so avoid overcooking it or it becomes dry and tough.

Cook until it flakes easily with a fork. Test by inserting a fork at an angle into the thickest part of the fish and twisting gently. For food safety reasons, fish should be cooked to an internal temperature of 160°.

Betty Crocker's "New Cookbook" is an excellent reference on cooking fish and shellfish. Lemon and dill go hand in hand with fish, so this recipe is no exception.

Served with a tossed salad, mixed vegetables and bread of choice, dinner is a quick "go."

Certified family and consumer scientist Barb Gray specializes in microwave cooking.

LEMON-DILL ROLLS

4 sole, cod or red snapper fillets (1 lb.)
Grated peel of 1 lemon
1 tsp. dill weed
¾ cup plus 2 tbsp. apple juice
Juice of ¼ lemon
2 tbsp. finely minced onion
1 tbsp. unsalted margarine
1 tsp. flour
1 tsp. chopped parsley

Sprinkle fish with half the lemon peel and half the dill.

Roll up each fillet. Place seam-side down in 9-inch round microwave-safe dish.

Combine ¾ cup apple juice, lemon juice, onion, remaining lemon peel and dill. Pour over fish. Dot with margarine.

Cover with vented plastic wrap. Microwave on high power 3 minutes. Uncover. Spoon cooking liquid over fish.

Re-cover. Cook 3 to 4 minutes until fish flakes easily with fork. Let stand, covered, while making sauce.

Pour cooking liquid from fish into small microwave-safe bowl.

Blend remaining 2 tablespoons apple juice into flour. Stir into cooking liquid.

Microwave on high power 3 to 4 minutes, stirring twice, until sauce boils and thickens slightly.

Add parsley to sauce. Spoon over fish.

Makes 4 servings.

Spread ¼ cup mayonnaise on 4 English muffins, split and toasted. Alternately arrange ½ pound sliced turkey; 1 gala or other crisp apple, cored and thinly sliced, and 1 rib celery.

Here's something you can take to heart.

Come to Men's Heart Check Day and find out how healthy your heart really is.

Heart disease is one of the leading causes of death among Americans. It also can cause disability and loss of income.

Fortunately, there is something you can do to guard yourself against heart disease--prevention through early detection. That's why, as a special community service, Memorial will hold a Men's Heart Check Day. For just $25, you will receive a complete heart health screening to help you identify your coronary risk factors.

DATE, TIME, PLACE:

Recipe

CHICKEN AND SAUSAGE GUMBO

- 8 oz. kielbasa or andouille sausage, cut in 1/4 inch cubes
- 4 tbsp. oil
- 1 (2 1/2 to 3 lb.) chicken, cut in pieces
- 1 1/2 qt. water
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 cup chopped green bell pepper
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup, chopped fresh parsley
- 2 bay leaves
- 1/2 tsp. thyme
- 1 tsp. pepper sauce
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/8 tsp. freshly ground pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped green onion

Cooked rice
In 3-quart saucepan, brown sausage in 2 tablespoons oil. Remove.

Add chicken. Cook, turning occasionally, about 10 minutes until golden brown. Remove chicken, leaving liquid in pan.

When chicken is cool, discard skin and bones and dice meat in 1/2-inch cubes. In skillet over medium heat, mix remaining 2 tablespoons oil with flour. Cook and stir until mixture (roux) turns dark brown. Add onion, celery, green pepper, garlic and parsley. Cook about 10 minutes.

Add vegetables, bay leaves, thyme, pepper sauce, salt and pepper to liquid in saucepan. Bring to boil. Reduce heat. Over low heat, simmer, uncovered, 45 minutes.

Add chicken and sausage. Simmer 15 minutes. Remove pan from heat.

Rejoice! 'MST3K' is returning to TV

By Kevin Carbery
Staff writer

There is a reason to live. "Mystery Science Theater 3000" has been brought back to life by the Sci-Fi Channel on cable television.

It's about time something good has happened in the entertainment industry.

"MST3K," as we MSTies (people who love the program) call it, gained fame while running on the Comedy Central cable television channel.

Comedy Central foolishly canceled it last year, however, and only recently has it returned to the airwaves on the Sci-Fi Channel.

The show involves a human who has been shot into space and, with his robot friends, is forced to watch one crummy movie after another as some kind of weird experiment by evil scientists.

Through the years, there have been several cast changes.

I preferred the original cast, but the show has remained strong.

The hilarity of the program comes from the human and robots making wisecracks about the lousy films they view.

During each two-hour episode, Mike and the 'bots make dozens of jokes at the expense of what is happening in the movies.

And the movies are truly awful.

Films like "The Amazing Colossal Man" from the 1950s are easy targets for all kinds of barbs.

What I like about "MST3K" is it reminds me of my high school and college days, when my friends and I would go see bad movies at the drive-in theater on purpose, just so we could make fun of them.

The worse the film, the more fun we had.

In addition to insulting the screen, the "MST3K" characters perform short skits.

These are a mixed bag, but now and then they can be entertaining.

The draw of the show is razzing bad movies, however, and that is always worth seeing.

In honor of the return of "Mystery Science Theater 3000," this week's trivia is on bad flicks.

1. In which disaster movie from the '70s does Helen Reddy play a singing nun?

2. "Howard the Duck" is set in which city?

3. Who directed the junk masterpiece "Cannonball Run" and its sequel?

4. "Glen or Glenda," justifiably considered one of the worst films ever made, came from which director?

5. What was the name of the film starring Michael Caine that involved killer bees?

6. What is the name of the movie in which husband and wife Woody Allen and Bette Midler do nothing but argue for an hour and a half?

7. Richard Pryor and Jackie Gleason teamed up to make which unfunny comedy?

8. Who is the star of "I'll Take Sweden"?

9. Meryl Streep and Roseanne made what movie together, for some inexplicable reason?

10. Pia Zadora starred in what incredibly awful movie about a Hollywood screenwriter?

ANSWERS: 1. "Airport 1975." 2. Cleveland. 3. Hal Needham. 4. Ed Wood. 5. "The Swarm." Caine, who has made many strong films, has also been in an uncommon number of donkeys. 6. "Scenes From a Mall." I remember losing the will to live for quite a while after seeing this movie. 7.

"The Toy." I love Pryor and Gleason, but this film is miserable. 8. Bob Hope. This guy made many humorous flicks, but lost his touch by the end of the 1950s. 9.

"She-Devil." 10. "The Lonely Lady."

On a beautiful, 103-acre wooded campus in Chesterfield, students are working hard to acquire the knowledge and skills needed to become doctors of chiropractic.

The students attend Logan College of Chiropractic. The college has more than 5,000 alumni, who practice chiropractic throughout the United States and the world.

"Our alumni provide outstanding care and service to their patients, and we are very proud of them," said Logan President George A. Goodman, D.C. "They have supported Logan College in many ways, and we feel very fortunate that many of our alumni have maintained strong ties to the College."

The 800 men and women now studying at Logan represent most U.S. states and several foreign countries.

The chiropractic profession celebrated its centennial in 1995. The celebration was a double one for Logan students, employees and alumni, because Logan College also celebrated its 60th anniversary that year.

Founded in St. Louis in 1935 by H.B. Logan, D.C., the college soon moved to a campus in Normandy. In 1973, the college moved to its present location in Chesterfield.

The chiropractic profession has flourished since it began in 1895. Today, doctors of chiropractic are licensed as health professionals in every U.S. state and in a number of other countries. An article in Time magazine (Sept. 23, 1991) noted that in a recent year, one in 20 Americans is treated by a chiropractor.

The main focus of chiropractic care is the correction of vertebral misalignments, utilizing painless, manual adjustments of the vertebrae.

Chiropractic physicians emphasize the relationship between the vertebrae and the function of the body, with the nervous system being the connecting link in this relationship.

While chiropractic physicians generally do not prescribe medications or perform surgery (unless they have also completed the necessary medical education requirements to do so), they do not oppose the use of drugs or surgery when necessary.

So that they can serve as qualified primary contact health care professionals, and referrals to other health professionals when necessary, chiropractic students learn the classical approach to diagnosis.

They take many courses on the methods which also are used by medical and osteopathic physicians to diagnose pathology in all of the body's systems and organs.

Students also complete courses in basic sciences (microbiology, anatomy, spinal anatomy, biochemistry, embryology, etc.) and numerous techniques of chiropractic adjusting.

Each student at Logan College also must complete a research project prior to graduation, as well as a clinical internship.

Students enroll at Logan after completing two or more years of college-level pre-chiropractic study. At Logan College, students complete 10 trimesters (the equivalent of five traditional academic years) of study to receive the Doctor of Chiropractic degree.

Most Logan students are enrolled almost year round, completing three trimesters per year.

They attend classes nearly all day, five days a week. During their final year of study, clinical rotations can extend their days to 13 hours or more.

The clinical rotations take place at Logan's four Health Centers and three free clinics in the St. Louis area, where senior interns provide patient care under the direction of licensed chiropractic physicians of the Logan faculty. Logan College is one of 14 chiropractic colleges in the U.S. accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of the Council on Chiropractic Education (CCE). The CCE is recognized as an accrediting agency by the U.S. Department of Education and by the National Council on Postsecondary Education.

In 1991, Logan became the first college to receive a seven-year re-accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation of the CCE, the maximum re-accreditation possible.

Logan also is accredited by the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

In 1992, the College received the maximum 10-year re-accreditation from this agency.
